

BUSH DREAMS

Native Australian Flavours

Bush Dreams is one of North America's leading importers of Native Australian herbs, spices, and specialty food ingredients. Based in Toronto, the company has been supplying distinctive Australian flavors to the food service markets for many years.

Australia's botanists, horticulturists, anthropologists, and food industry leaders have worked together with the Aboriginal people to document and analyze native plant species for culinary and nutritional value for over 20 years. These findings have led to the current emergence of native Australian cuisine. Flavors such as lemon myrtle, pepperberry, and wattleseed appear in culinary cuisines throughout the world.
